

VIVI PANDA

Written by

LADY Angelica Bordeaux

VIVI PANDA

Implumida are kind souls that once come to earth and utilized the body of man. But the leaders did understand. Trill is the race half man and is Tobias meaning similar friends to vivi our E.T pandas.

These Quadra peds enjoy their days within discussion of friendship and brilliance in mind. The Tobias Quadra Peds were those who never named them self until earth name calling came from man. Prada pandas on earth that dine on bamboo and wear the same fur line packs look up in amazement. One afternoon on earth it was mentioned that one spoke allowed mars pandas who said that? Did they exist? who on earth said panda?

And so panda thinks ... I am. A natural thought. "Dumb humans" whispered a voice some where someone is able to hear.

Was it Migration? Or are each carried from a different race to a new? As they now have a name vivi freaks out looking for why?

VIVI PANDA

Triviality such as this, “is it our names that are our culture forced upon us” or the VIVI Panda that is forced on them? Cub pandas use eye contact and take small amounts of time to look at hair colour, fur, and Quadra Ped paws. But children Pandas don't ask for names when greeting or meeting for the first time. They welcome in visual communication. Cub pandas are intelligent.

One Vivi Tobias Panda asks if he is a doctor due to his order of line asking for relevance within a name such as panda when on earth quietly to himself. While his happy days start with a great big bowl of light.

Mars is a much preferred planet for this VIVI Tobias Panda, where vivi can gain strength and personality only when needed - his taste for high fashion reveals Peripheral love for his transport and a vision splendor. And so he thinks the appropriate communication device he is in need of to better suit his lifestyle is his VIVI Panda attire and only sold at the renaissanceborzoi.com arriving soon.

VIVI PANDA

Panda paws are the most appreciated booties worn on Mondays this is why the attire within a book was a part of VIVI pandas plan. What with all that over there he can walk with pride and an l.e.d lamp to lead his way close to wear he can see.

One morning when VIVI walked a little too close to mars he noticed the most perfect path filled with candy cakes and bright stars. He held a few within his paws and placed them into the L.E.D lamp still carried at his side.

As he flew past many of light and encouragement onward and up toward the mars planet he thinks quietly this is a great day out of a bamboo forest. Carrying his book of plenty in the palm of his paws he thinks himself calm while admiring the view.

Mars and his gentle respect allow VIVI Panda a time to share communication privately and promptly asked him to return to earth where his attachments to his dream will be waiting for him.

VIVI PANDA

VIVI PANDA's circular motion was a display of wealth to some who sat and looked over to their right. For VIVI Panda he was simply displaying his honor for the rights given to visit when he can.

My Eyes see the most gracious view of light and stars a love he thinks greater than some and now if he can prove to man that the name was not his most important thought but to light his evening with an attachment of worth and value that all can share together may assist upon the earth.

And upon the Earth within a tiny mind of great value and intelligence one lady chose to assist Tobias the ViVi Panda with his Quadra Ped Prada.

VIVI PANDA

VIVI Panda was born free within a mind of many and spent time in heights of 10,000 feet above sea level. Where the altitude is cool and clear. No sushi for this little great Panda cub he was eager to learn and almost as fast as lightening in through thought and when breakfast was closer than a walk.

He rolled up the rock face and over the top to prove he understood his journey had just started. He had black pads under his paws and white above to light the dark when walking through the bamboo forest floors. His eyes were of a most excellent design of gentle darken rings sitting in front of a snow field with long think rows of seams this Vivi panda is advanced and a happy disposition he holds. These visits were many while young and tenacious of life still today prefer the location chosen to sit a while. This abundance of food allowed VIVI to think himself safe. Until One afternoon during a big white storm the clouds over head became a darken grey and this allowed the sunlight rays to gently pass through down on over to the rocks beside VIVI PANDA's dreams.

VIVI PANDA

The contrast was magic and VIVI PANDA believed that what is up above the clouds was worth a new resting place when he is old enough to travel he starts his climb.

Months pass and even years VIVI Panda grew taller and wider he was healthy and very happy with his bamboo stems and his forest friends of many. He would often think the clouds will lower into an area large enough to carry him above them. It was time he moved on and up to the heights he was born to achieve and so off he walked day before day week before week his mind was very active.

It is Monday a happy day for this VIVI Panda to rise above and count the evening stars one and then another star two and then continuing with this understanding VIVI Panda remained above the clouds in body and view enjoying his days each Monday alone free within mind. A climate cooler and kind to his fur and a pace only he can appreciate.

VIVI PANDA

Laying out with the sunlight over his head and sitting in an upright position he held gently to his tree. Vivi Panda liked watching his friends over to his right within their side of the tree making each day a new day of calm and gentle surrounds this gave a sense of care for his family friends.

Vivi was never restricted to understanding a moment within time and appreciated the change he viewed among his friends and fellow Pandas.

He would often moan about his dreams of walking further a field and the beauty the starlight captured when resting gentle thought before the darken light skies.

Some thought VIVI had spent too little time among friends and suggested moving into an area that pleased him. One sits close waiting for Vivi to offer his share of knowledge knowing that he is far too clever to look and stare.

VIVI PANDA

VIVI continued to think on his dream that made his different from a few, with his ideas of learning and how to best initiate his concepts he brought closer to him a branch of the finest green leaves from the bamboo streams that grew in length of demand.

He lay each green emerald leaf of darken highlights around his head for the other Pandas to remember, he gently sprinkled leaves of lime and yellow to share the base of their tree of life and when the youngest of each whiten panda best arrives VIVI handed over with his paws a steam of bamboo thin an rich with nutrient, succulent in ease for style.

The afternoon became itself and with it the stars shine brighter than ever VIVI is now at age where his simple ideas have started. He moved through space and above and reached out gently toward a line in front reaching for perfection. One of choice and gainful knowledge, one that will assist him toward his future. His paws lay wide open to the challenge of vision, he grasps within his paws and for while he walks with a four, four ease and stride.

VIVI PANDA

ViVi looks over to his left and there sits a brilliance within excellence suspended within space one of the most perfect views and the Planet Mars.

A kind and generous planet thought VIVI Panda continuing to walk along. Is there a change where I can see how my fur can offer breath to a brighter than ever evening sky while I sit within my tree and look up at the stars I like that shine on and over toward my families and other families?

The rain that came with the wind that blew the emerald green leaves from the surroundings of VIVI Panda's head display awoke him in time to move up a little further away from the storm that was to arrive not long before today. Nothing was lost!

VIVI thought longer on his concepts to assist his brighter evening skies and the closer he came to his start the longer the thought grew. When wearing his fur he agreed to share his idea but only with Mars.

VIVI PANDA

VIVI Panda enjoys the time shared when Marzipan Pandas were many within mind and the greatness of lightened coat is a must for his family and friends.

VIVI Panda believed that due to his knowledge of how he is given the understanding to design his own attire upon earth and this within his mind would be the start of a new generation.

Each day a little before the morning sunrise VIVI panda walked a path of bamboo branches and spread the leaves of green and yellow gold all around the floor of his tree. He believed this will give a life to his understanding that allowed the stars to shine over to his family's location.

All day he sits above the clouds waiting for the evening sky light and watches where the light remains. Weeks have move forward to a place that now see how the sunlight can rest within the tree s that hide the VIVI panda 's area of location.

VIVI PANDA

One year arrived and VIVI panda climbed down out of his tree and up on top of his branch the closest he had ever come to a view and one opinion. His opinion!

The coat will give much happiness within safety for my family he thinks and I located an area where I can produce the best start. My evening skies of lighten bright will now also keep me safe wearing the coat of friendship and change.

The brilliance in coat and colours for humans to appreciate now from a distance of closer than ever a friend of their own can wear proudly. They are designed with care in mind and kind to the touch, while each are shared with a smile for a few the many will laugh and enjoy the view.

How excellent VIVI Panda thinks his feelings of overwhelming happiness move though his body and paws knowing he has shared his knowledge to one only that allows him to make available for many an opportunity to keep safe when walking with a friend at his side.

VIVI PANDA

Written by Lady Angelica Bordeaux

Limited Edition
Australia and International